PLATINUM EDITION

FROM THE DESK OF REVERED SECRETARY SIR

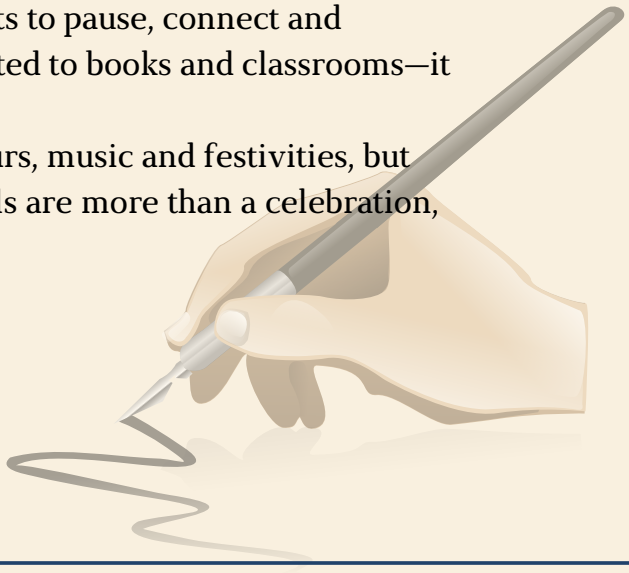

Shri Radha MohanKacholia (CA)
Hon. Secretary

Festivals are more than just events marked on a calendar. They act as a bridge, bringing people of different generations together and giving us an opportunity to reconnect with our roots and celebrate the traditions that shape who we become. We get to step beyond a monotonous daily routine and experience the richness of our cultural heritage.

For example, Navratri is a beautiful blend of tradition, enthusiasm and learning. The nine days of the festival remind us of the victory of good over evil and inspire young minds to embrace values such as courage, positivity and perseverance. From traditional attire and devotional music to Garba and Dandiya, every aspect of Navratri creates an atmosphere filled with energy and joy.

Participating in these festivities with loved ones and preparing for cultural activities can act as an impactful lesson in friendship and cooperation. These experiences help strengthen bonds and create memories that remain long after the celebrations are over. Festivals also provide a much-needed opportunity to express our creative passions, ensuring a healthy balance between academics and cultural talents. Dance, music, art and fashion are all part of the festive spirit. They allow students to pause, connect and celebrate together, reminding us that education is not limited to books and classrooms—it is also about growing together as a community.
As Navratri approaches, let us celebrate not only the colours, music and festivities, but also the values that the festival represents because festivals are more than a celebration, they're also experiences that bring culture to life.

FROM THE DESK OF REVERED PRINCIPAL MADAM

Dear Students,

Smt. Manju Sharma
Principal

As we move forward in our academic journey, festivals give us a wonderful opportunity to pause, reflect, and connect with the values that shape us. With Navratri around the corner, I would like to remind you that festivals are not merely about celebrations; they are also about learning, togetherness, and discovering the strength within ourselves.

Navratri celebrates the victory of good over evil and reminds us of the power of courage, determination, and perseverance. These values are equally important in a student's life. Every challenge you face in your studies, friendships, or daily life is an opportunity to become stronger and more confident.

Festivals also help us appreciate our rich culture and traditions. Participating in celebrations, enjoying music and dance, and spending time with our families and community teach us the importance of unity, respect, and belonging. These experiences create memories that remain with us long after the celebrations are over.

I encourage each one of you to celebrate Navratri with joy and responsibility. While enjoying the festivities, take a moment to understand the deeper message behind them. Let the spirit of Navratri inspire you to face difficulties with courage, treat others with kindness, and always choose what is right.

Remember, education is not limited to textbooks and classrooms. The values we learn from our culture, traditions, and experiences are an equally important part of growing into responsible and compassionate individuals.

May this Navratri bring positivity to your lives, strength to overcome every challenge, and happiness to your families. Let us celebrate the spirit of togetherness and carry its beautiful values with us throughout the year.

Wishing you all a joyful, safe, and blessed Navratri!

FROM THE DESK OF REVERED VICE PRINCIPAL SIR

Dear Readers,

We live in an age where information is available at the click of a button. Our students are increasingly turning to short videos and quick online explanations to learn their lessons. While these resources are useful, I am concerned about a growing habit—the habit of becoming “hasty readers” and “quick learners” who prefer watching over reading.

Mr. S B Choudhary
Vice Principal

A video can explain a concept in a few minutes, but reading a textbook requires us to pause, think, imagine, question, and connect ideas. These are the very skills that develop deep thinking, concentration, creativity, and independent learning.

As educators and parents, we must encourage our children to use technology as a learning aid, not as a replacement for reading. Let us remind our students that watching may give us information, but reading helps us understand it.

So, dear students, slow down, open a book, read a few pages every day—and give your mind the time to think.

Read deeply. Think independently. Learn continuously.

MESSAGE FROM PRIMARY INCHARGE

Ms. Sunita Maheshwari
Primary Incharge

The festive season is here, and you can already feel the excitement in the air! Navratri isn't just about nine nights of celebrations, music, and dressing up. For you as students, it actually holds a really special meaning.

Just like each day of Navratri stands for a different kind of strength, your time at school asks for different qualities too—some days you need focus, some days creativity, and other days, just the courage to keep trying.

Festivals like this give us a wonderful chance to take a break, recharge, and come back to our studies with fresh energy.

Even when we play Garba and Dandiya, there's something to learn. It's all about teamwork, rhythm, and moving together. It reminds us that when we support each other and celebrate together, our school becomes a much happier place to learn.
This Navratri, I want you to try and conquer your own little challenges. Whether it's understanding a tough subject, getting over the fear of making mistakes, or simply choosing to be kinder to your classmates.

Wishing you all a very joyful Navratri. May these nine days bring you lots of happiness, new energy, and the confidence to do your absolute best!

लघु कथा
शब्द ....जो समझे गए

"अनन्या, तुमने मेहनत की है, लेकिन इस सवाल को एक बार फिर समझने की जरूरत है।"
शिक्षिका ने बहुत सहजता से कहा।
अनन्या ने सिर झुका लिया।
"जी मैडम।"
शिक्षिका आगे बढ़ गईं, लेकिन अनन्या की पेंसिल रुक गई।
उसे लगा— *मैडम को भी लगता है कि मैं गणित में कमजोर हूँ।
शाम को माँ ने कॉपी देखी।*
"इतनी बार समझाने के बाद भी यह सवाल गलत?"
अनन्या चुप रही।
माँ ने तुरंत अपनी बात सँभाली,
"मेरा मतलब तुम्हें डाँटना नहीं है। मैं चाहती हूँ तुम ध्यान से करो।"
लेकिन अनन्या के मन में पहला वाक्य ही ठहर गया था।
कुछ दिनों बाद शिक्षिका ने देखा कि अनन्या सवाल पूछने से बचती है। उत्तर आता हुआ भी हाथ नहीं उठाती।
"क्या हुआ?"
"डर लगता है... गलत हो जाएगा।"
"गलत होना बुरा है?"
अनन्या ने धीमे से कहा,
"जब मैं गलत करती हूँ, तो सबको लगता है मैं कमजोर हूँ।"
उसी दिन अभिभावक-शिक्षक बैठक में माँ आईं।
शिक्षिका ने कहा,
"अनन्या में क्षमता है, लेकिन वह अपनी गलतियों को अपनी पहचान समझने लगी है।"

- माँ कुछ कहतीं, उससे पहले अनन्या बोल पड़ी—
- "माँ, मैडम ने तो आज भी अच्छे से कहा था... लेकिन मुझे लगा वो भी वही कह रही हैं जो आप कहती हो।"
- माँ चुप हो गईं।
- शिक्षिका ने अनन्या की ओर देखा।
- "यही तो बात है। कभी-कभी सामने वाला बहुत सावधानी से बोलता है, लेकिन हमारे भीतर पहले से बनी धारणा उसके शब्दों का अर्थ बदल देती है।"
- अनन्या ने पूछा,
- "तो मैडम ने 'फिर से समझो' कहा था... 'तुम नहीं समझ सकती' नहीं?"
- "बिल्कुल।"
- अनन्या ने अपनी कॉपी खोली।
- "तो मैं फिर से कोशिश करूँ?"
- "हाँ।"
- इस बार उसकी पेंसिल पहले से थोड़ी तेज चल रही थी।
