JULY EDITION

FROM THE DESK OF

Hon. Secretary Sir

Mr. Radhamohan Kacholia (CA)

Dear Students,

Creativity isn't merely confined to artists, writers and inventors. It's a potent force that resides within each one of us. Creativity and innovation can't exist in isolation- these qualities come in pairs. While creativity requires the courage to dream, innovation is the ability to turn that dream into a reality. Creativity is the flame that guides innovation and innovation is what makes creativity worthwhile.

To quote Albert Einstein, “Imagination is more important than knowledge”. Knowledge may open countless doors for you but imagination is what lets you walk through them. Creativity has no threshold, no barriers. If you can imagine it, you can create it. An innovation need not be grand; it could be something minute yet impactful. So, listen to your creative spark, put faith in your inner child and let your imagination work wonders.

The goal of education isn't only to impart knowledge and information, but also to fuel inquisitive minds and guide their imagination in the right direction. Remember, thinkers of today become leaders of tomorrow. Even when a person attains distinction in life, the roots can always be traced back to his childhood.

Simple ideas can change the world. Every artistic venture and every ground-breaking discovery was once just an idea. So who knows , maybe the next world-changing idea is sitting in your mind, waiting to be discovered and shaped into something meaningful.

Wishing you all the best,
Thank You!

FROM THE DESK OF

Revered Principal Madam

Ms. Manju Sharma

As we move forward in our academic journey, I want to share a thought with you all. I often see students focusing entirely on memorizing facts and finding the one right answer in a textbook. While your syllabus is important, education at MPS International is about much more than just passing exams. Real learning happens when you start asking your own questions. I want to challenge you to look at your daily assignments a little differently.

Whether you are trying to solve a complicated math problem, working on a group project, or simply sharing your thoughts in class, try bringing your own unique perspective. Do not be afraid to suggest a completely new way of doing things.

Remember, nobody gets everything right on the first try. Making a mistake is often the very best way to learn how to do something better. I want you to feel comfortable taking those chances and thinking for yourselves.

However, as you explore and experiment, your foundation must remain strong. I still expect you to communicate confidently in English, respect your teachers and classmates, and follow the school rules sincerely. A sharp, imaginative mind thrives when it is rooted in good character and discipline.

Think of this school as a place where you are safe to test the waters, dream big, and grow into independent thinkers. I am always excited to see the fresh, original ways you approach your studies and your life here.
Wishing you a joyful, productive, and inspiring time ahead!

FROM THE DESK OF

Revered Vice Principal Sir

Mr. S B Choudhary

Dear Students,

Creativity and innovation are the driving forces behind progress and excellence. Every great idea begins with curiosity, imagination, and the courage to think differently. In today's ever-changing world, success belongs to those who are willing to explore new possibilities, embrace challenges, and transform ideas into meaningful actions.

As students, each one of you possesses unique talents and the potential to create something extraordinary. Never hesitate to ask questions, experiment with new approaches, or learn from your experiences. Innovation is not only about inventing something new—it is about improving, adapting, and finding better ways to solve problems.

Our school encourages every learner to think beyond textbooks, express their ideas with confidence, and participate in activities that nurture creativity. Whether it is in academics, science, technology, art, literature, or sports, every effort to think creatively helps you grow into a confident and responsible individual.

Remember that every challenge is an opportunity to discover your strengths. Stay curious, keep learning, and never be afraid of making mistakes, for they often become the stepping stones to success. Let your imagination inspire your actions and your innovation create a positive impact on the world around you. Together, let us build a culture where creativity is celebrated, innovation is encouraged, and every student is empowered to dream big and achieve excellence.

Wishing you all a year filled with creative ideas, innovative thinking, and remarkable achievements.

FROM THE DESK OF

Revered Primary Incharge Madam

Dear Students,

"Don't limit a child to your own learning, for he was born in another time."

— Rabindranath Tagore

Ms. Sunita Maheshwari

Every child is born with a curious mind and a wonderful imagination. Creativity begins with simple questions, thoughtful observations and the confidence to look at things differently. When these ideas are encouraged and given direction, they grow into innovation.

Each one of you has unique talents waiting to be discovered. Whether it is through art, writing, science, sports or solving everyday problems, creativity finds expression in many forms. Every idea deserves an opportunity to grow, for even the smallest thought can lead to something meaningful.

Learning is not only about finding the right answers but also about exploring new possibilities. Never hesitate to ask questions, share your ideas or learn from your mistakes. Every experience adds to your knowledge, builds confidence and helps you discover your true potential.

At the same time, creativity blossoms best when supported by respect, responsibility and discipline. These values provide a strong foundation for imagination to flourish with purpose and integrity. Together, they prepare you not only to succeed in school but also to become thoughtful and responsible individuals.

As you continue your journey of learning, keep your curiosity alive, believe in your ideas and never stop exploring. The seeds of creativity you nurture today may grow into the innovations that shape tomorrow.

Wishing you all a joyful journey of learning, creativity and discovery.

जीवन के चार लक्ष्य : सीखना, कमाना, सेवा और मृत्यु को स्वीकार करना

विजयलक्ष्मी जांगिड़
विजया
Hindi Educator,
MPS International,
Jaipur

"आश्रम" का अर्थ है—जीवन का ऐसा चरण, जिसमें व्यक्ति अपनी आयु, क्षमता और उत्तरदायित्व के अनुसार जीवन जीना सीखता है। हमारे वेदों, उपनिषदों और धर्मशास्त्रों में मानव जीवन को चार आश्रमों—ब्रह्मचर्य, गृहस्थ, वानप्रस्थ और संन्यास—में विभाजित किया गया है। यह केवल धार्मिक व्यवस्था नहीं, बल्कि एक वैज्ञानिक और मनोवैज्ञानिक जीवन-पद्धति है, जो मनुष्य को क्रमबद्ध, संतुलित और उद्देश्यपूर्ण जीवन जीने की प्रेरणा देती है।

तैत्तिरीय उपनिषद् में शिक्षा पूर्ण होने पर गुरु अपने शिष्य को उपदेश देते हैं— "सत्यं वद। धर्मं चर। स्वाध्यायान्मा प्रमदः।"
अर्थात् सत्य बोलो, धर्म का पालन करो और जीवनभर सीखना कभी मत छोड़ो।

यदि हम आश्रम व्यवस्था को आज के समय की भाषा में समझें, तो इसे चार सरल जीवन-लक्ष्यों के रूप में देखा जा सकता है—सीखना, कमाना, सेवा करना और मृत्यु को स्वीकार करना।

पहला लक्ष्य—सीखना।
बचपन सीखने, अच्छे संस्कार ग्रहण करने और कौशल विकसित करने का समय है। यही जीवन की मजबूत नींव बनाता है।

दूसरा लक्ष्य—कमाना।
युवावस्था कर्म और सृजन का समय है। कमाने का अर्थ केवल धन अर्जित करना नहीं, बल्कि ज्ञान, अनुभव, विश्वास, चरित्र, सम्मान और अच्छी प्रतिष्ठा अर्जित करना भी है।

तीसरा लक्ष्य—सेवा।
जब जीवन की मुख्य जिम्मेदारियाँ पूरी होने लगें, तब अपने अनुभव, समय और संसाधनों को समाज, राष्ट्र और मानवता के हित में लगाना ही जीवन की सच्ची सफलता है। यही वानप्रस्थ का आधुनिक स्वरूप है।

चौथा और अंतिम लक्ष्य—मृत्यु को स्वीकार करना।
मृत्यु जीवन का अंतिम सत्य है। इसका स्मरण हमें भयभीत करने के लिए नहीं, बल्कि यह सिखाने के लिए है कि जीवन सीमित है। इसलिए हर दिन को सार्थक बनाना, अच्छे कर्म करना और प्रेम व करुणा के साथ जीना ही सच्ची सफलता है।

जब व्यक्ति अपनी प्रत्येक अवस्था के उद्देश्य को समझकर उसी के अनुरूप पुरुषार्थ करता है, तो जीवन में भ्रम कम होता है, निर्णय स्पष्ट होते हैं और संतुलन बना रहता है। ऐसा व्यक्ति स्वयं सुखी रहता है, परिवार को दिशा देता है, समाज के लिए उपयोगी बनता है और अंततः संतोषपूर्ण जीवन जीता है।

हमारे शास्त्रों का संदेश स्पष्ट है— "कुर्वन्नेव इह कर्माणि जिजीविषेच्छतं समाः।" (ईशावास्य उपनिषद्)
अर्थात् कर्तव्य करते हुए ही सौ वर्ष तक जीने की इच्छा करनी चाहिए।

यदि बचपन में सीखना, युवावस्था में ईमानदारी से कमाना, प्रौढ़ावस्था में सेवा करना, और अंत में मृत्यु के सत्य को स्वीकार करते हुए जीवन जीना सीख लिया जाए, तो जीवन केवल सफल ही नहीं, बल्कि सार्थक, संतुलित और प्रेरणादायी भी बन जाता है।

THE Undeniable Mindset

Most of our hardest battles don't happen on a physical stage—they happen quietly in our own heads. It's pretty common to see two people with the exact same resources and opportunities end up with completely different results. More often than not, the difference isn't talent or luck; it comes down to mindset. Having an "undeniable mindset" doesn't mean pretending life is easy or that everything will go smoothly. It just means having the quiet persistence to keep moving forward, especially when things get tough.

To me, this mindset simply means refusing to let a bad moment be the end of the story. Everyone deals with disappointment—whether it's getting a lower grade than expected, getting rejected, or dealing with plans falling apart. But those moments don't have to define us. The real test is how we handle them. Instead of getting stuck asking "Why is this happening to me?" a strong mindset pushes you to ask, "What can I learn from this?" That small shift in perspective changes everything.

In everyday student life, you see this mindset in small, unglamorous choices: studying for an exam even after doing poorly on the last one, practicing a skill consistently, or raising your hand to ask a question when you're confused. None of these actions look dramatic on their own, but together, they build real confidence over time. Big achievements are rarely the result of one sudden breakthrough; they're built on dozens of minor, daily choices.

If you look at successful people—whether they are athletes, scientists, or top students—none of them got there without failing along the way. Athletes lose important matches, scientists run hundreds of failed tests, and good students make plenty of mistakes before mastering a topic. Failure isn't a dead end; it's just feedback. Every setback teaches you something if you're willing to pay attention.

The good news is that no one is born with this mindset pre-installed; it's something you build over time. You build it by setting practical goals, staying disciplined when you don't feel like working, and taking criticism constructively instead of personally. It's also about focusing on your own progress rather than constantly measuring yourself against others. Growth can feel painfully slow, but consistent effort always adds up.

Ultimately, your mindset determines how you handle pressure. Talent might give you a good start, but grit is what keeps you going. When things get difficult, your mindset decides whether you give up or adapt. It won't guarantee a smooth ride, but it does guarantee that a setback won't be the final word.
